Did this Jesus guy really exist 2000 years ago?

Or was he just a myth like the Easter bunny or Santa Claus (sorry kids Santa's not real)? In today's world the general community demands to see hard solid proof that Jesus did exist, otherwise it's probably a hoax created by the church. The strongest evidence for Jesus' existence is still the Bible, mainly the gospels describing Jesus' life and his work in saving humanity. Now the question is, do the biblical gospels match up to the secular history? Firstly the historical time in which Jesus was alive in was a lot different to ours, there were no internet database or driver's license in which you can prove your identity. Any history or proof of a person was either written down on paper or expressed in some sort of artwork e.g. a statue or a painting. Therefore the gospels which were originally ancient writings are considered most reliable by both Christian and non-Christian scholars. Also in the 1st century there was a famous Roman historian called Tacitus who recorded down the thousands of Christians who suffered and perished at the hands of Pilate and the Roman government at that time. This is perhaps one of the greatest non-biblical evidence that Jesus did exist that literally thousands of Christians gave their life away defending the mission Jesus Christ started. People even today are willing to die for what they know to be true and just, but no-one will ever die for what they know is a lie.

To see the people of our local community be presented with the gospel and to come to know

What drives each person in Project Bethsaida is the urge to share the the most amazing that has and will ever happen to us!

For Christ's love compels us, because we are convinced that one died for all, and therefore all died. And he died for all, that those who live should no longer live for themselves but for him who died for them and was raised again....We are therefore Christ's ambassadors, as though God were making his appeal through us. We implore you on Christ's behalf: Be reconciled to God. 2 Corinthians 5:14-15,20
